Dear Colleague:

The Southeastern Conference of Law Teachers will be held this year in Nashville on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, August 20-22. The carpet will definitely be out for you and your families. Tours of Music City USA, the Tennessee Art Museum and Botanical Gardens at Cheekwood, the Hermitage, the Parthenon, and other points of interest have been arranged. There will be an opportunity to see the Grand Ole Opry and, perhaps, a recording session. There will be special events for your children, too.

The program for our meeting will explore the role of the law school in judicial administration and law reform. We are presently negotiating with speakers who have unusual knowledge and expertise in this area, and you will certainly want to hear them. The program topic is one on which there are widely divergent views, but it is also one that we badly need to discuss at a time when respect for the law and the courts which administer it must surely be at an all-time low.

So plan to join us. We'll keep you posted as developments occur. Our hotel will be the new Holiday Inn Vanderbilt. More to come later.

Yours most sincerely,

John S. Beasley II, Associate Dean
Arrangements Chairman, Annual Meeting
Southeastern Conference of the AALS
